1. Throughout Manchuria Province the Chinese Communists have organized groups of women and children to check the passes of all travelers at certain points on all important roads. Travel controls have become so stringent that it is now necessary to secure a travel permit issued by the village public office to go from one village to another.
2. Fire has partially destroyed the Taitshih Co-Educational Middle School. A large number of the students formerly at the school have not returned to school but have secured employment throughout the city. The office of the Hsin Hsin (新新) newspaper was also destroyed by fire and, according to one of the employees, the presses were ruined.
3. Student committees supervised by a Communist Party staff member have been organized in all primary, middle, and high schools. Weekly discussion and criticism (自我批评) meetings are held under the auspices of the student committees.
4. The Chinese Communists have organized singing groups in an effort to strengthen the morale of the people. The Taitshih Educational Bureau has ordered all primary and middle school students to participate in the singing of Communist songs on Saturday afternoons. Families of members of the Railway Bureau have been organized into singing groups which meet every evening.
